Casa Bina

Playas de Buena Vista, Mexico

A unique property with Pacific Ocean frontage and a backdrop of gentle hills, Casa Bina is a spectacular house in the most idyllic and secluded position.

Set amongst eight acres of beautiful landscaped gardens on the impressive West Coast of Mexico, Casa Bina was completed in 2002 by the renowned Mexican architect Enrique Zozaya and is a Mexican-style hacienda with a main house and guest house. All the bedrooms enjoy lots of space and fabulous ocean views each with its own private terrace and hammock.

Life at Casa Bina takes place outside under the breathtaking palapa with its traditional thatched roof and around the incredible three-tier infinity pool. This spectacular living and dining area with large built-in organically shaped sofas and a wooden deck borders onto the infinity pool and here, guests can enjoy some serious exercise in the thirty metre lap pool which connects to the other two levels by slides! (Protection for children can be put up on request). The fully-equipped kitchen with ocean view and barbecue facilities allows full interaction with guests in the living area.

The four charming and friendly staff at Casa Bina really ensure that guests have a very special time here - they both cook the delicious Mexican meals and assist with all one's needs with the minimum of fuss. In addition to the fabulous pool and flood-lit tennis court there is a five mile beach on the doorstep for jogging and the opportunity to go horse riding, kayaking and surfing. For lovers of wildlife, the Buena Vista coastal area is also home to over seventy species of birds including parrots and pelicans as well as being an area for dolphins and whales and a protected area for turtles.

Sit back and relax in your hammock, watch the amazing sunsets with a glass of fresh Aqua de Jamaica and listen to the forceful and rhythmic sound of the ocean waves - Casa Bina is paradise and perfect for families, friends and honeymooners.
